MEGS

MEGS groups together the activities of hosting international students and exporting GIP CEI's academic know-how to international partner institutions. Programs are in English and designed according to international standards.

MEGS trains its students in Management & Electronics in Paris and Brittany.

Specialized and Internationally focused, our programs aim at preparing students to perform in a complex and globalized environment.

MEGS seminars have been designed in partnerships with top business schools & universities.

MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Thierry SAUVAGE

General Director of GIP CEI

Welcome to the MEGS Summer School, which offers a range of seminars in Business and Electronics.

Our courses give you a rich and diverse perspective of your subject area and are taught by lecturers and education professionals who have an in-depth knowledge of their specialism and are excited to share in your learning journey. Through stimulating lectures, workshops and educational field trips you will experience a teaching environment that encourages learning and new perspectives, providing you with new knowledge and skills that will remain with you for life.

MEGS, both in Paris & Brittany is part of a rich ecosystem providing countless opportunities to discover, share and reflect.

Both locations host array of summer festivals each year and attracts visitors from all over the world.

I look forward to welcoming you as an international student and wish you a wonderful stay in France.
